

In 2022, IHS, in partnership with The Wilson Center Mexico Institute, hosted a round table discussion about threats, vulnerabilities, and challenges specific to transportation and supply chain issues in Brownsville.

Now we are expanding the scope and seeking input from the broader South Texas business community regarding supply chain topics for a regional needs assessment study. Our main objective is to gather and analyze your invaluable insights to identify existing threats encountered in your operations and understand how they may impact commerce flow in the Texas-Mexico border region.
